1. The former Ehrlich & Graetz factory in Berlin-Treptow, Elsenstrasse is engaged in the development of electrical and radio apparatus, including direction finders, for the Volkspolizei. The specialists employed include Dipl. Ing. Dittmar, formerly with the Reichsluftfahrtministerium.
2. Orders for radio apparatus for the Volkspolizei have been given priority over all others from the Planning Ministry.
3. Ober-Kommissar Puschel appears to be Volkspolizei officer responsible for radio matters.
4. Considerable organizational difficulties have resulted at the Sachsenwerk in Radeberg because no definite order has yet been received to start the manufacture of television receivers, although facilities have been kept free since the beginning of July.
